

The Ringlestone Inn

Welcome to the Ringlestone Inn. Kevin, Christina, Siobhan and Heather welcome you to their 16th century inn. Built in 1533, the Ringlestone was originally used as a hospice for monks but became one of the early "Ale Houses" around 1615. Much of the Inn has changed very little since then with its original brick and flint walls and floors, oak beams, inglenooks and centuries old furniture. Even in the later addition the dining room the tables were specially made from the timbers of an 18th century Thames barge. So sit back and relax in the atmosphere of nearly 500 years. We hope you enjoy our selection of fine wines, spirits beers and good food, all sourced locally and freshly prepared. Oh and don't miss our extensive range of over 30 English country fruit wines and Liqueurs. As the inscription carved in 1632 on our impressive English oak sideboard proclaims,

"A Ryghte Joyouse and welcome greeting too ye all"
